Local High School Filmmakers Prepare for World Premiere at 14th San Diego Asian Film Festival, Nov 10

(San Diego, CA – October 28, 2013) – Hundreds of supporters and film-lovers are expected to attend the world premiere of REEL VOICES, highlighting the youngest filmmakers of the 14th San Diego Asian Film Festival (SDAFF) on Sunday, November 10 at 12PM at the Hazard Center Digiplex Cinemas in Mission Valley (7510 Hazard Center Drive, San Diego, CA 92108). Major sponsors of the REEL VOICES program include Time Warner Cable, SDG&E and the Arthur & Jean Pratt Memorial Fund. The Festival, which runs November 7-16, 2013 at various locations throughout the County, is noted as “One of the Top Ten Reasons to Visit San Diego” by USA Today’s Pop Traveler.

This year, Reel Voices presents the work of twelve talented students whose works touch on issues ranging from personal experiences and struggles to a surfing and teenage parenthood. Students are from local San Diego High schools including Kearny, High Tech High, Eastlake Schools.

About Time Warner Cable's Connect a Million Minds

Time Warner Cable's (TWC) Connect a Million Minds (CMM) is a five-year, $100 million philanthropic initiative to address America's declining proficiency in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM), which puts our children at risk of not competing successfully in a global economy. Using its media assets, TWC creates awareness of the issue and inspires students to develop the STEM skills they need to become the problem solvers of tomorrow. Program highlights include: original PSAs that challenge public perceptions of STEM; a unique website, www.connectamillionminds.com, and "The Connector", a one-of-a-kind online resource that makes it simple and easy for parents and students to find informal science and technology learning opportunities in their communities. Local TWC markets have activated CMM across the country with community-specific programs and partnerships.
